Japanese Coal Mission Visits Pass

A Japanese Coal Mission, headed by Dr. S. Sugami, manager of the Mineral Resources Research office of the Yaowai Iron and Steel Co. Ltd., and Mr. T. Tomabuchi, chief of Coal Import Section of Mitsubishi Saito Kaisha Ltd., and comprising Y. Matsura of Toyonaka, K. Mori, chief of Geology, Mitsubishi Mining Co. Ltd., visited the coal mines in Blairmore and Coleman this week.

Another member of the party, Mr. K. Mochizuki, production manager of Mitsubishi Mining Co., took ill and had to be transported to Calgary Wednesday on instruction of Dr. Russell of Blairmore, after which Mr. Mochizuki was returned to Vancouver by plane.

The delegation were taken on a complete tour of the underground workings of the West Canadian Collieries Greenhill mine of Blairmore and the Bellevue mine of the West Canadian Collieries in Blairmore and the Coleman Collieries in Blairmore, after which the men were taken on a complete tour of the tipple and coal cleaning plants of the mines and the loading facilities at the mines.

As a result of the visit the first shipment of coal from the Bellevue mine of the West Canadian Collieries will be loaded and leave the Pass Friday.

The Japanese were very highly impressed with the mine workings and as a result of the trip Mr. William Bird, general manager of West Canadian Collieries of Blairmore, was very confident that the visit would result in substantial orders being received.

Mr. Bird also stated that competition in Japan for the coal markets is terrific with coal companies from West Germany, Australia and Russia. The Japanese demand for coal for their steel industries will increase annually for the next five years at which time the Japanese will arrive at their maximum consumption of coal for their steel mills.

J. A. Brusset, president of West Canadian Collieries of Calgary, accompanied by Mr. William Mickle of Luxor and Chemical Ltd. of New York, and Dave Sutherland, exporter of coal, of Vancouver, were also in Blairmore this week.

New Dining Room Added To Satellite Cafe

The Satellite Cafe in Coleman is the subject of a large and up-to-date dining room, on the east side of the present building. The new addition, approximately 20 by 25 feet in size will be opened in the near future and will be available for private meetings and luncheons.

The interior of the room, which will be known as the "Comet Room" will feature indirect lighting and the walls will feature walnut and light oak paneling, while the floor will be finished in turquoise tile.

Two large picture windows on the south side will be closed off by draperies while sliding folding doors will separate the dining room from the cafe section.

The floor of the dining room is being covered with a tan and red colored linoleum, in the centre of which the proprietors have had an original design of a comet to complement the name of the Satellite Cafe.

The furniture for the cafe will be a beige walnut color. The dining room as well as the cafe have been air-conditioned during the past week which will add to the comfort of the patrons.

Mr. Bubnick and his family deserve great credit for the undertaking and achievement of their new building and businesses erected in Coleman. At present they are employing a staff of 17.

Mr. Plante has been making the annual trip to Burns for the past 30 years to pick wild tiger lilies but reports that this is the first time he has ever seen a yellow one.

Pinafore". The students will also be taken on a condensed tour of the theatre.

Miss Bond's name was submitted by Principal Homer Allen of the Coleman school, as to be eligible to be chosen a student must be exceptionally active in the arts.

Cynthia has taken a leading part in school plays and is also on the church choir as well as organist for the church. She took top marks in the student teachers' class at the Lethbridge festival this spring and also took first for the senior piano classes in the Crows Nest Pass musical festival in Blairmore. Besides these accomplishments, Cynthia is also an excellent dancer and plays piano for the Teen-servers of the area.

Fire Guts J. Duncan Home

Fire that is believed to have started in the attic section of the J. Duncan home in the Caribou side gutted the interior of the frame stucco home.

Firemen of the Coleman brigade were called to the scene but time had taken a good hold and the firemen did all possible to quell the blaze.

Extensive damage was done to the home and contents, all owned by Mr. Duncan. Insurance was carried

An increasingly common type of accident was simulated recently by the Factories Branch of the Alberta Department of Labor, to test the strength of a new nylon safety belt and two types of lifelines.

The tests were designed to subject the equipment to an impact as great or greater than that of a person falling from an oil derrick.

The safety belt was secured to a steel cylinder and locked to the lifeline. The other end of the line was fastened to a dynamometer, which measures impact force when a free falling object is suddenly arrested. The dynamometer was attached to the ceiling approximately 20 feet above the floor. Using a platform and pulley system the test weight was elevated and then dropped. The length of fall was controlled by rope length allowing sufficient room for rope stretch.

The first test used half inch nylon rope, 12 feet in length with a 200 pound weight. At the end of the free fall the nylon rope stretched 1.82 feet subjecting the safety belt to an impact force of 2900 lbs.

The second and third tests used the same kind of rope and with a weight of 250 pounds. The tests were designed to measure the loss of elasticity and resultant characteristics of the material. The 250 pound weight registered an impact of 2500 pounds stretching 3 feet the first time and stretching 2.15 feet the second with an impact of 3275 pounds. Increased impact weight was due to decreased rope elasticity. The safety belt had shown no damage up to this time.

A one inch manilla rope was used for the fourth test. Attached to a 250 pound weight the rope stretched 47 inches at the end of the 12 foot fall, registering an impact of 9,000 pounds. Again the greater impact was caused by the comparative lack of elasticity in manilla rope.

The greater impact from use of manilla rope caused slight damage to the eyelets on the safety belt buckle, although it suffered no severe damage.

One inch manilla rope is made with a maximum breaking weight of 9,000 pounds but due to its non-elastic characteristic should be used only to 20 per cent of maximum. Nylon of the half inch size has a breaking strength of 5,000 lbs. but due to greater elasticity may be used to 70 per cent of maximum.

The safety belt tested is of a new design, made almost entirely of nylon. In addition to having greater strength than the cotton web model, the nylon belt is impervious to oil, gasoline and moisture, which may rot a cotton belt and cause it to fail. The tested belt also has a newly designed attaching ring which is less subject to damage than the "D" ring. All safety belts used in the oil industry must pass a test of 250 pound weight dropped 6 feet on a 6 foot manilla rope.

The Factories Branch works in co-operation with the Workmen's Compensation Board to ensure the regulations which require the use of safety belts on all oil rigs, are complied with. Periodic checks are made at derricks to verify the lifeline and safety belt. Investigation into injuries or fatalities at a well site is also conducted by the Factories Branch.

During 1959 two oil workers were killed as a result of falls from oil derricks. Two others who fell with safety belts were slightly injured. Unreported falls in which workers suffered no injury make it impossible to establish the number of persons whose lives have been saved by the belt. The Factories Branch reports in some cases a belt has been available to a fall victim but he was not wearing it.

GOING UP — Alberta's biggest revolving neon sign was hoisted into place this week atop the four-storey bottling plant at the Calgary Brewery, after high winds forced cancellation of two earlier attempts to lift the 15 tons of steel and glass 115 feet above street level. Forty feet tall and 25 feet wide, the sign incorporates an electric clock with nine-foot-long hands which can be read a mile away.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

Kicking The U. S. A.

I have long thought that CBC officials must hate the U.S.A.

Time and time again one hears commentators on CBC take gratuitous cracks at the United States — its commercial TV (as if our own TV were not commercial), its congressional committees, its foreign policies.

This hate-U.S.A. campaign has become so obvious that the other night, when a CBC interviewer seemed to be trying to get similar criticisms of the States out of Professor Frank Underhill, he got told off in a very very nice way.

Professor Underhill is an ardent leftist, but he is also a realist. He answered promptly that he thinks the tendency of the professors he hears over CBC to hate America is unhealthy. He termed it "a disease".

Professor Underhill went on to praise many facets of the modern democracy we have built here in North America, and he had a special word of praise for American Congressional Committees.

Immediately, the CBC commentator conducting the interview, suggested "You don't want a McCarthy here do you? You don't want witch hunting?"

Unperturbed by such suggestions, Underhill went on to say that such Congressional Committees dig up the facts. Our parliamentary committees are pretty weak in comparison.

It must have taken a good deal of courage on the part of Underhill to reply so forthrightly to such loaded questions. I admired him — and he is a man with whom I am not in general agreement, by any means, although he seems to me to be one of the few useful leftists in Canada.

He remarked during his appearance, that when the world seems to be in grave danger, and a nation as great as ours is doing nothing about it, there must be a need for rebels, for what he called "leftists". On those terms, I am myself a leftist. I rebel strongly against many of the things this country is not doing and many of the things we are doing. I think we have far too much government. I believe if the people of Canada were set free — really free — and if the bars to immigrants were let down, we'd have a stronger and better nation for all citizens in a surprisingly short time.

I have written to CBC for a copy of Mr. Underhill's talks. I hope you do, too. Then, when you hear CBC commentators kicking our neighbor in the shins, you will perhaps realize that this is not the view of all professors — but only of those carefully selected by CBC to appear regularly on the networks.

Canada's Record In World Refugee Year

With the UN-sponsored World Refugee Year officially terminated June 30th the national Canadian Committee for World Refugee Year reported today that returns received to date show Canadians have contributed enough money to close 11 refugee camps in Europe and also to build a "Canada" vocational training centre in the Middle East. Both projects are top-priority items for the CCWRY Central Fund.

On the camp clearance side this means Canadians, through this special year of extra endeavor, have so far provided sufficient funds for a fresh start in life for over 1200 refugees who have been confined to camps for 10, 15 or more years. Not included in this figure are the 800-plus refugees now residing or being brought to Canada under the Federal Government's special Refugee Year project for tubercular refugees and their families.

The Canadian Committee stressed that returns to date are far from complete. Although the $4,500,000 reported represents the total dollar value at June 20 of government voluntary agency and WRY committee efforts throughout the country, the relatively late start of the World Refugee Year in Canada, means that several local WRY committees and national organizations with on-going refugee programs will continue their efforts beyond June 30, until objectives have been met. Also the four and a half million dollar figure is inconclusive as only 17 of 29 organizations, having refugee assistance programs and sponsoring the national Canadian WRY Committee, have reported, e.g. the total does not include contributions made to several Roman Catholic refugee programs.

In addition to camp clearance projects, many local WRY committees and other refugee organizations pledged themselves to help refugees in many other parts of the world besides Europe, such as those in the Middle East, Hong Kong, Algerian refugees in Tunisia and Morocco and European refugees on the mainland of China.

Present plans call for the convening of the national Canadian Committee for World Refugee Year to September 30 to accept further contributions, issue income tax receipts and facilitate the transmission of funds to UN refugee programs.

Roadside Chapel Proves Attraction

The Back To God Drive In Chapel that was officially opened at Passburg at ceremonies held on Saturday afternoon attracted some 700 persons from all over Southern Alberta.

The affair opened with a prayer by Rev. P. J. Hockstra of Calgary, after which a hymn was sung by all, followed by the reading of Scripture by the Rev. Vanden Berg of Nobleford.

An inspiring address "The Way", given by Rev. E. V. Halsema of Grand Rapids, Mich., was appreciated followed by a selection sung by the Leithridge Christian Reform Church choir.

An address "The Truth" by Rev. A. Kuyvenhoven of Leithridge, preceded another choir selection after which the Rev. Vanden Berg gave an address "The Life".

The congregation then joined in singing a hymn after which William Kovach, M.L.A. of Hillcrest, spoke words of congratulations to those who were responsible for erecting the roadside Chapel.

The Chapel was then officially opened by R. P. P. Bowman, superintendent of CPR of Leithridge who rang the Chapel bell—which bell was donated by the CPR.

Words of thanks were then expressed by the Rev. Halsema to all who took part or assisted in any way in the construction and erection of the Church.

After a closing prayer, led by Rev. Halsema, a scenic tour of the Pass was enjoyed by visitors and a picnic near the Chapel concluded the event.

The eye-catching Chapel, erected on the north side of the number three highway at Passburg, was built voluntarily by Chris Withage of Leithridge, and was transported by truck to Passburg last Tuesday. Roads into the Chapel grounds are being built by the government's Department of Highways and it is anticipated that signs will soon be erected near the turnoffs on the highway.

The large brass bell in the Chapel's steeple was donated by the CPR and is inscribed "Donated by the CPR July 1, 1960".

An electric phonograph with coal box is soon to be installed in the Chapel, where visitors can hear short sermons and hymns especially recorded for the Chapel. The purpose of the Chapel is to give motorists a chance to rest and meditate a while as the Church's motto is Drive Safe—Drive With God.

The colorful Chapel, set with a background of scenic mountains, is proving to be a tremendous attraction to the motorists passing a check of the guest book is tallied in the Chapel showed that after being open only 11 hours, visitors had registered from numerous points in Alberta including Calgary, Leithridge, Twin Butte, Macleod, Pineau Creek, Edmonton, Nobleford, Fort Spry, New Dayton, Tofield, Irma, Vermilion, Bonnyville, Virdia, Vancouver, New Westminster, Cranbrook, Steinbach, Man. Storm Hits The Pass

A lightning and thunderstorm accompanied by scattered showers hit the Crows Nest Pass district Wednesday evening and although the rains were heavy in some spots, other areas report very little moisture.

The Forestry Department in Blairmore report that the lightning struck in several spots in the reserve and that reports of smoke were received by the lookouts in the Gap and Coleman stations.

Men have been sent to check on the reports.

According to John Hogan, forestry superintendent at Blairmore, the rain that fell did not aid the dry condition in the forests at the present time and he added that forestry men are keeping a sharp lookout for the possibility of any fire that may be caused as the result of the electric storm Wednesday night.

He stated that lightning striking a tree will spiral around the tree to the ground, sometimes starting a spot or low branch smoldering and several days will pass before fire breaks out.

Mr. Hogan stated that although conditions in the district around the Crows Nest Pass are in a very dry and hazardous condition that the Forestry Department do not anticipate closing the Crows Nest Road this week-end.

The department have requested that all fishermen and persons going into the forest this week-end please use extreme caution with cigarettes and matches and if building a fire is absolutely necessary, that camp shelters should be sought or proper fireplaces used.

HSA Award Is Presented In Norway

In early June an unusual event took place in Kinesdal, Norway, when a former student of Pincher Creek received a visit from a representative of the Canadian Embassy in Oslo.

Karin Elizabeth Filkeid, a grade IX student who had won the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations' Dr. Kerby Award, as well as the Governor-General's Medal, and the local Alberta Teachers' Association scholarship, had moved to Norway before these awards could be presented personally.

A proxy presentation of the awards was made by Miss Filkeid for outstanding achievement in the 1959 Alberta Departmental grade IX examinations was made December 15 to Sister Charles at St. Michael's Separate School in Pincher Creek. The presentation of the Home & School award, several of which are given annually in memory of the late Dr. George Kerby, was made by R. H. Jeacock, president of the Alberta Federation at this time.

The Departmental of External Affairs then arranged for the awards to be sent to the Canadian Embassy in Oslo by a special courier. The final presentation took place in Kinesdal high school which Elizabeth is attending now.

Mr. E. B. Wong, Canadian vice-consul, made the 400-mile trip from Oslo to present the awards.

Mr. E. Filkeid, Elizabeth's father, thanked the Canadian Embassy and the Department of External Affairs and paid high tribute to the Canadian schools and the educational system of Alberta.

Power Company Issues Pamphlet

How many young people in your community will be leaving high school this year?

This and many other important questions are raised in Calgary Power Ltd.'s new Industrial Development pamphlet "What Industry Can Do For Your Community".

The pamphlet goes on to ask "Will the young people find jobs in their own community?" "Will they find jobs in Alberta?" or "Will they have to leave the province to find work?" It also points out that it may take $10,000 to $100,000 in capital investment to create one job. It asks Alberta communities to consider whether they can supply the necessary required capital to provide employment for their young people. With approximately 6,000 students leaving high schools this year this is an interesting thought-provoking question.

The Calgary Power Ltd. pamphlet then continues by outlining some important points to remember in attracting industry to a community and the advantages from an industry employing 20 persons. Finally it produces in chart form how the average farmer and industrial worker distributes his retail spending.

Calgary Power Ltd. hopes that this chart will help Chambers of Commerce and other groups interested in industrial development work. A well-known Albertan after reading

"What Industry Can Do For Your Community" remarked "The retailer in Alberta has been fortunate to have had good farmers in his area. Let's hope he will now help to bring in industry to provide jobs for the community" and thereby increase his sales.

Cabin Dedicated At F.U.A. Camp

Edmonton, July 7 — Preliminary plans were announced in Edmonton today for a second caravan to Gold Eye Lake F.U.A. camp.

On August 14th a ceremony will take place at the camp dedicating a dormitory cabin built in memory of a family of F.U.A. members killed in an automobile crash December 7, 1953. The cabin was constructed by Pine Hill F.U.A. Local No. 1049 as a contribution to the camp project and in memory of the family.

The plans were announced by A. F. McCalla, chairman of the Jr. F.U.A. Camp committee.

He said "many people have suggested that a second trip to Gold Eye would be desirable and here now is their opportunity to view progress made in the past year."

Present plans indicate that the dedication ceremony will take place at 11:30 a.m. with officials of the F.U.A. co-operatives and government, as well as the clergy being present. Gold Eye Lake is located 100 miles west of Red Deer on highway No. 11. It is hoped many people will attend this function.

Red Cross Youth Aids Classmates In Chile

Alberta school children in Junior Red Cross are doing their part to help their fellow classmates in Chile who are victims of recent earthquakes in that country. Through their Red Cross service clubs Alberta students have packed and shipped 1061 health kits for use of young Chilean disaster victims.

And what is a health kit? It is a bag containing all the items necessary for good health care including soap, towel, tooth brush, tooth paste or powder, face cloth and comb. The kits, which are made by Junior members from gaily colored cotton, also contain a small gift item. This may be a hair ribbon or barrette, a rubber ball or even a stuffed toy but no matter what the article it is sent to convey to the child who receives it a message of friendship from children in Canadian Junior Red Cross.

Besides providing health needs, Junior Red Cross members through their International Fund for Help and Understanding are sending some $10,000 worth of children's warm new clothing sufficient to clothe about 800 young Chilean victims with complete winter outfits from underwear to overcoats.

A Major Project

Providing emergency aid and promoting friendship among the youth of the world is one of the three-fold purposes of Junior Red Cross. Since the first of this year Red Cross youth members in Alberta have raised over $10,000 to ease the plight of the world's young refugees and in the past year contributed more than $8,000 from various fund-raising projects to aid children in emergency areas and provide self-help projects for students in under-developed countries. In order that students from such countries may have an opportunity to attend global Red Cross study centres, Canadian Juniors also contribute sums of money from their funds to assist with transportation for such Junior delegates.

Not content with only monetary contributions, Junior Red Cross members also promote a greater understanding with their classmates in other lands through exchange of "friendship albums", which describe the Canadian way of life and are exchanged for albums illustrating other countries, also through exchange of tape recordings, art work and handicrafts.

These lines are a vital part of our service — the highways along which the power generated on the Bow River reaches homes, farms and industry hundreds of miles away. The Browns are looking at a sub-station at our Ghost hydro plant — one of the hundreds of sub-stations throughout our system which control the voltage that flows through the nearly 4,900 miles of main transmission lines — longer than the Trans Canada Highway from coast to coast. The first transmission lines built by the Company in 1911 served only Cochrane, Exshaw and part of the City of Calgary. Now transmission lines carry electricity to our customers throughout 75,000 square miles of Alberta.

A Salute to Alberta's American-Born Pioneer Citizens

New towns are springing up where railway lines have scored the prairie and parkland, beyond them new furrows are to be ploughed, and here are the pioneers who will turn them deep and straight.

They are Americans, mostly from the midwest states, farm people wise enough in the ways of pioneering to temper enthusiasm with caution. When Canadian land agents visited them at their established communities in the States they elected to send representatives north to see if the promoters' promises of "free land" were accurate and practical.

Now, encouraged by reports, they strike out confidently—sometimes a few families together, often an entire community—loading cherished family possessions in covered wagons, hitching patient milk cows to the tail gate, and proudly tucking into the whip socket the staff from which flutters the Stars and Stripes.

The firm which pioneered Alberta at about the same era—1892—proudly salutes the American "covered wagon" pioneers for their faith in the province they helped make great.

Dear Sir:
Would like to drop you a line to let you know how we enjoyed our trip in Canada.

Your picnic areas and comfort stations are the cleanest we have come across in a long time. And we really enjoyed them.

We tried to find a Canada silver dollar but did not have any luck. We left Fernie before the banks opened. So we did not try there.

Thanks again to people that helped to make our trip most enjoyable.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wardlow

Dr. Frank N.D. Buchman, initiator of Moral Re-Armament, is seen here with James Collart, executive of British press and television, and Rajmohan Gandhi, grandson of Mahatma Gandhi of India, at Mackinac Island, Michigan. Dr. Buchman is talking with Mayor Willi Brandt of Berlin, West Germany.

"A HURRICANE OF COMMON SENSE"

Caux, Switzerland, June — Dr. Frank N.D. Buchman, speaking to the world through press, radio and TV, called Moral Re-Armament "a hurricane of common sense sweeping through the heart of nations. It is smashing down the barriers between nations and races, dispersing the fogs of hate that threaten humanity, and bringing a mighty wind of hope to the millions of the earth."

The failure of the Paris Summit meeting points up the need for a serious reappraisal of national purposes and policies. It throws into sharp relief the opening of the Moral Re-Armament World Conferences in Caux, Switzerland, and Mackinac Island, Michigan, early in June. These conferences have been called to bring a cure to the crisis of nations.

The keynote was given by Dr. Buchman: "Today nations are in convulsion. The answer lies in radical, drastic dealing with the motives of men and nations. It is the normal work of true patriots of every country throughout the world. Without this essential patriotism, civilization must end in chaos. With the acceptance of this challenge, every man can be a force to bring an avalanche of the answer to his nation. Moral Re-Armament stands as the dynamic alternative for mankind. It is the way up and the way out for all humanity. We will win the world in time."

Dr. Buchman has gone to Edinburgh in response to repeated invitations from Chancellor Adenauer of Germany and Archbishop Makarios, President-elect of Cyprus. In the last months he has also received urgent invitations from President Tubman of Liberia; Dr. Azikiwe, Prime Minister of Eastern Nigeria, and other leaders of Europe and Africa.

Dr. Buchman concluded, "It needs a hurricane of common sense to bring men to their senses, restoring the Communist and the Non-Communist world to sanity and unity before it is too late. That hurricane is sweeping through every nation today, and in the midst of the hurricane the still small Voice of the living God, an unseen but ever-present Guide, willing and able to speak to the men of the Kremlin, the men of Washington, to the millions everywhere, leaders and led, who have lost their way and seek to find it."

"It is so normal. It is so practical. It is a hurricane. And it is common sense."
